

County and City Women Organize For Child Welfare

Various Projects Discussed at Meeting Called Primarily to Induce Greater Interest in Child Training School—Dr. Crispell Advocates County Health Unit to Take Place of Boards of Health.

Thirty-five representative women of Ulster county, including Kingston city met at the Brass Kettle Inn for luncheon on Friday to consider ways and means to make the coming school for Pre-School Child-Training to be held in Kingston on October 9, 10, and 11, a matter of vital interest to parents throughout the county. These women were not merely "representative women" in general, but they represented active and successful women's organizations throughout the county, and they were called together by Miss Nance, manager of the Ulster County Home Bureau, which is sponsoring the school this year as it did last year, when it was something entirely new to the county.

By means of a clever device all present at the luncheon, which was decidedly to the credit of the Brass Kettle Inn, became acquainted in a quick and pleasant manner. During the luncheon, in addition to general conversation there was singing led by Mrs. Henry F. Dunbar and after the repast, not only were plans for the coming school arranged in a very efficient manner, but there were two or three short addresses given.

It will be recalled that last fall Dr. Wilker of the Rockefeller Foundation came to Kingston through the Home Bureau and held a Pre-School Child Training School for three days. It was a simple yet efficient course in rational and practical child psychology, but its value not being appreciated because so little was known about it, the attendance was not large enough to bring Dr. Wilker back this year for the full course. However, having had a demonstration of the possibilities of such a course, practically free to the mothers—and fathers, too, if they will, of the county, the Home Bureau determined to put across the school this year in a big way, hence the general committee, for that was what it came to be, to complete the organization and interest the parents.

In opening the meeting, Miss Nance had no difficulty in finding in the group before her women with a fear of the dark, of water, of great heights, etc., etc., all the result of early ignorant training by some adult or adults during the formative years of life. It is to avoid the inculcation of fears, etc., and to cultivate the inculcation of right thoughts and habits in little children that this school is to be held this fall, with three people in charge—Dr. Wilker, who will give her valuable instruction on "How to Study the Child"; Miss Helen Hubbell of Cornell University whose subject will be "Proper Food for the Pre-School Child"; and Miss Mildred Craney also of Ithaca whose subject will be "Right Clothing for the Pre-School Child."

Right here and now is a good time and place to make it just as plain as possible that while the school is primarily in the interest of the preschool child, it will be of inestimable value for those having older children to train. In fact as a result of last year's school there were those who reported that they found themselves much better able to understand adults after learning the possible good and bad effects of early training on children.

In addition to the regular instruction given in the form of most interesting talks, there will be exhibits of food and clothing which will, in concrete form drive home the lessons given in the talks.

After hearing all this in explanation from Miss Nance, this General County Committee, at the suggestion of Miss Nance, proceeded to choose chairmen for sub-committees to actively help in spreading this gospel of healthy, happy and right childhood by means of a large attendance at the coming sessions of the school. They were County Chairman Mrs. Clarence Brigham of the P. T. A. of School No. 7; Mrs. H. M. Eppes of Accord Home Bureau, chairman of Publicity Committee, assisted by Miss Baum of Kingston; Mrs. Smith of Saugerties; Mrs. Herbert H. Bell of Milton; Mrs. C. N. Reed of Kingston. Only chairmen of other committees were chosen, the chairmen appointing their own associates: Mrs. G. F. Rice of Kingston was appointed chairman of the Room Committee, (place where the school shall be held); Mrs. Boerker of Kingston as chairman of the Exhibits Committee; Mrs. William A. Warren of Hurley, chairman of registration; Mrs. William Kemble, chairman of materials.

Junior League Will Help.
Mrs. Dunbar, president of the Junior League, which is carrying on Child Welfare work in Kingston city, spoke at some length on the willingness of the League to practically turn over the three day school for a day nursery to care for children whom mothers would find it absolutely necessary to bring with them at the time of the school. Rapid Progress On New Road Construction on route 9-W from Port Ewen south is being rushed by the contractors. Culverts on the route have been constructed and much fill has been placed on the new alignment. There are several one way places where bridges have been placed over laid culverts and sluiceways. The actual tearing up of the road has not been commenced. At several points along the route trees have been cut preparatory to commencing work. It is the intention of contractors on the Kingston-Ulster Park contract to begin work at the south end of their contract. The Highland-Ulster Park contract will be commenced at the Lloyd line and worked north.

GANGSTERS SHOOT NEW YORK FURRIER IN BOSTON HOTEL

Boston, Sept. 14 (AP).—Samuel Rheinstein, 29, supposed New York furrier, was shot and killed in the dimly-lighted corridors of the Hotel Huntington early today.

So closely had Rheinstein's slayers crept from behind to press their weapons within inches of his head that police for more than an hour believed it a clear case of suicide. Not until a medical examiner found two bullet holes in the back of the furrier's skull and a search failed to reveal trace of a revolver were they convinced that there had been a killing.

Police rushed to the hotel and a search of its rooms revealed that two men who had registered from Providence, R. I., apparently had fled. The room was close to that occupied by Rheinstein and his wife, Sally.

Mrs. Rheinstein declared she knew of no reason anyone should desire his death and asserted that they had come to this city early in July on a "pleasure trip."

Police, however, said that an examination of correspondence in their room convinced them that the man was in hiding. One letter urged him to "stay hidden," while another said, "We will send you plenty." A letter signed by his brother, Louis, read "We will never tell anyone where you are."

The outlets which killed Rheinstein were fired, according to the police theory, by two men who had secreted themselves around a bend in a second floor corridor. Each fired one shot. One bullet entered Rheinstein's head in the left side of the upper neck. The other lodged over the right ear.

LONDON POST NOT SO KEEN ABOUT NAVAL DISARMAMENT
London, Sept. 14 (AP).—One voice alone among the London press dissented today in the general welcome accorded the announcement in Washington of a probable naval limitation conference in December between Great Britain and the United States.

That voice was the conservative Morning Post, always a big navy advocate and suspicious of any move for limitation of Britain's sea forces. The Post declared:

"The British people are nervous about these disarmament negotiations and don't much like this American notion of measuring the British navy with a yardstick, nor the precipitation with which Mr. MacDonald has rushed into the subject."

The paper then demanded that when Mr. MacDonald went to Washington he should emulate Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, in his stand at The Hague, and "stand firm upon the necessities of his own nation."

Eye-Witnesses Describe Fatal Bus Collision

Bus Was Going at High Speed When It Struck Touring Car, Killing Two and Injuring a Number of Others—State Troopers Fix Exact Distances and Positions by Tire Marks.

Sworn testimony of four persons, two of them eye witnesses of the bus accident on the Highland-Milton road, September 7, between a passenger bus and pleasure car, in which two persons were killed and several others badly injured, was heard in a preliminary hearing Friday at Highland before Justice Harold A. Lent. The hearing resulted in the holding of the bus driver on a charge of manslaughter in the second degree. Bail was to be fixed by Judge Fowler, pending a grand jury investigation of the case.

Sergeant Lockhart of the State Troopers was the first to testify. He, with Trooper Linn Baker, made the investigation of the accident, a short while after it occurred, and he later directed the placing of stone markers for photographs to corroborate his testimony.

Sergeant Lockhart questioned the bus driver for the state record of the accident, but the driver, Henry F. Duffy, 264 Hamilton street, Albany, refused to talk until after he had consulted counsel. Sergeant Lockhart arrested Duffy on a charge of second degree assault, which was later changed to manslaughter when it was found that two of the occupants of the pleasure car had died as a result of the crash.

In his testimony Sergeant Lockhart stated that the bus had traveled about 150 feet after side-swiping the pleasure car, and that the pleasure car, which was driven by Jan deLaet, 792 E. Nineteenth street Brooklyn, was driven backward 48 feet by actual measurement. He was able to tell these distances by tire marks on the pavement and side of the road, he said.

Sergeant Lockhart described the occupants of the deLaet machine, saying that two persons, both men, were in the front seat. They were both badly cut and bruised. In the rear of the car he found a woman and small boy, both unconscious. Many passengers of the bus were injured, he said, and medical aid was administered by doctors at the scene of the accident.

The sergeant described the condition of the pleasure car after the accident, and had pictures to corroborate his statements. He pictured the bus, badly smashed on its left side. Four of the windows were broken. Several of the seats on the left side were demolished and others were torn loose from their fastenings. A strip of metal on the left side had pierced the license plate of the deLaet machine and held it fast after tearing it loose from the car.

Trooper Baker, the next to testify, corroborated the sergeant's testimony and photographs. Duffy's counsel, John Rusk of Marlborough, objected to the use of the pictures but they were marked for identification.

Frank Martin, Milton road, said to be an eye-witness of the crash, was the next to take the stand. He testified that he lived about 1,000 feet from the scene of the accident, and could see the point of crash from where he was standing. He was first attracted, he said, by the speed of the bus as it passed his home. He estimated the bus was traveling about 40 miles an hour, and used his long experience as an operator of buses and pleasure cars to estimate the speed of the bus. His evidence was admitted against the protest of Attorney Rusk. According to Mr. Martin, the bus traveled about 100 feet after the crash, carrying the deLaet machine with it for about 40 feet before casting off to the side of the road. Under the questioning of LeVan Haver of Kingston, representing the district attorney's office, Mr. Martin told about the condition of the persons involved in the accident. His testimony on this point was similar to that of Sergeant Lockhart.

The last person to take the stand Friday was Fred Perkins of the Highland road. Mr. Perkins testified that he lived about 500 feet from the scene of the accident. He saw the cars approaching each other, and saw the bus side-swipe the pleasure car just south of a cross-roads and culvert. The bus, he said, swerved until it was almost off the pavement on the wrong side of the road. The deLaet machine pulled over as far as possible, but could not avoid the crash, having the option of a telephone pole or the bus. Mr. Perkins stated that the bus traveled about 150 feet after the crash and that the deLaet machine was backed up some 50 feet. He examined both machines, and found them to be badly wrecked, the deLaet machine being in the worse condition. Mr. Perkins aided the passengers of the deLaet machine in getting out of their car, the lady and child being unconscious, he said. Mr. Perkins placed the blame on the bus driver, but this testimony was not allowed to stand on the ground that it was only a matter of opinion.

Prosecutor Haver tried to introduce an autopsy, prepared by Drs. D. S. Meyers and C. B. Van Gaasbeck, both of Kingston, but Attorney Rusk objected on the grounds that the evidence had not been sworn to. This was sustained, making it necessary for the physicians to be present at the hearing this morning. The autopsy stated that Mrs. Mary deLaet died from wounds received in the accident. Attorney Rusk objected on the grounds that her death had to be proved.

Justice Lent then adjourned the meeting until this morning at 10 o'clock, and fixed bail at $5,000 which was furnished within an hour. The justice also revoked Duffy's license, against Attorney Rusk's protest. The attorney claimed there was no statute giving the justice this authority.

Dr. Meyers was the first to testify concerning the condition of Mrs. deLaet at the time she was brought to the Kingston Hospital for treatment. He said that she had been dead about an hour when he began an autopsy under the direction of Coroner Conner. Dr. Meyers said that he found cuts over the right ear and left eye, which was swollen shut. Cuts were also evident at the base of the neck. The left arm was fractured in several places and there were cuts on the left leg.

An internal examination revealed hemorrhages of the left temple muscle and lining of the brain. A fracture of the base of the skull was given as the cause of Mrs. deLaet's death. Dr. Meyers said that he was assisted by Dr. Van Gaasbeck and interne Slaughter.

Under cross-examination, Dr. Meyers stated that he supposed the fracture of the brain had been caused by a blow from a blunt object. He said that pieces of glass were found in Mrs. deLaet's hair, but that none of the cuts contained splinters.

Trooper Baker was called upon to prove that Mrs. deLaet was the woman taken to the hospital. Prosecutor Haver, then moved that Duffy be held for grand jury investigation. Attorney Rusk objected on the grounds that the evidence was insufficient. Justice Lent ruled that Duffy would be held for investigation by the October grand jury. Bond was fixed at $5,000 by Judge Fowler.

RUMANIAN LAW WILL ENFORCE BETROTHALS

Bucharest, Sept. 14 (AP).—Gr. Junian, minister of justice, has drawn up a bill on marriage and divorce which will, for the first time in this country, give legal standing to betrothal vows.

If the man breaks off an engagement, without giving sufficient reason, he will make himself liable in damages to either the girl or her family. Under certain circumstances, all presents must be returned.

In the divorce section, the bill provides that a divorce may retain the name of her spouse until she re-enters the marriage state. But she must hyphenate it with her maiden name.

Desertion of the home is made punishable by fines of from $6 to $60. In aggravated cases, a jail sentence may also be imposed.

MAORIS SEAL WAR BANNER GIVING KEY TO GERMANS

Auckland, N. Z., Sept. 14 (AP).—When the German cruiser Emden named for the famous raider which harried Pacific shipping early in the world war—visited New Zealand recently, the Arawa tribe of Maoris formally sealed peace with the Germans.

The ceremony was carried out at Chinenuta. A banner depicting a Maori warrior defying Germany was placed in a casket. The container was fitted with two padlocks and the key of one was given to Capt. Von Arnould of the Emden who promised to take it to President Von Hindenburg.

The other key was retained by the Arawas. The casket itself is to repose in their church at Chinenuta.

Gives Up After 21 Hours In Water.

London, Sept. 14 (AP).—Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston today abandoned her attempt to swim the English Channel after being in the water 21 hours. She was seven miles from Cape Griz Nez, France, her destination. She started at South Foreland, near Dover, England, at 5:30 a. m. yesterday. Mrs. Huddleston was quite fresh despite her long swim. She said she was compelled to give up her attempt because the tide was taking her down the channel.

Rockless Driver Fined $50.

Edward Bender of Palenville pleaded guilty to the charge of reckless driving Friday before Justice of the Peace Raf in Catskill and was fined $50. The case was the outcome of an accident on the Catskill Palenville road several weeks ago in which a Miss Schmitt suffered a fractured skull from which she is slowly recovering at the Kingston Hospital.

"Y" Auxiliary Resumes Sessions

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Receive Gifts—Work Done During Mr. Porter's Stay Here.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held their first meeting following the summer vacation on Friday afternoon. The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Charles Hicks. Five new members were voted for: Mrs. D. N. Secore, of 171 Greenkill avenue, from Clinton Avenue M. E. Church; Mrs. Edwin Seader of 134 Linderman avenue, from St. John's Episcopal Church; Mrs. Ora Merritt of 38 Furnace street; Miss Alice Kerr of 17 Clinton avenue and Mrs. Grant Barber of 124 Cedar street, from Clinton Avenue M. E. Church.

As chairman of the house committee, Mrs. J. G. Porter reported a chicken dinner served to the Men's Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church to between 90 and 96 people at $1.25 a plate on June 14; also a breakfast served to the directors at cost price and supper served to the directors at a later date. Mrs. Porter's resignation as chairman of the house committee was read and accepted with deep regret, as she has taken charge of the meals served at the Y. M. C. A. in a very satisfactory and efficient manner. The resignation of Mrs. Chester R. Hall from the Auxiliary was also received. Mrs. Hall had been chairman of devotions for several years and will be much missed. As chairman of the flower committee, Mrs. J. A. Wood reported the death of two Auxiliary members, Mrs. Franklin Tobey in July and Mrs. O. V. Wood, recently.

A synopsis of the work done by the Auxiliary during the secretaryship of Mr. Porter had been prepared and the secretary, Mrs. Anderson, was asked to read it.

In October, 1925, the new secretary, Mr. Porter, brought before the Auxiliary the need for a lunch room, as 27 men were rooming in the dormitories who would dine in the building if attractive facilities were provided. The Auxiliary purchased a new gas stove and agreed to pay the gas and light bills and cooperate in every way possible. The Auxiliary also pledged $1,000 towards the Y. M. C. A. drive. Later, the Auxiliary purchased a broiler for the gas stove, draperies, silverware, cloths and linens for the lunch room. Mr. Porter suggested that the dormitory floors be scrubbed clean of oil, which was done by the matron and helper. In January, 1926, Secretary Porter brought the condition of the dormitory rooms, the two front rooms and lobby downstairs to the attention of the Auxiliary and they later voted to pay for the repairing and painting of the entrance hall, lobby and two large downstairs rooms.

For New Year's Day, 1927, Mr. Porter suggested an entertainment at 7:30 p. m., given in the gymnasium by the "Harmony Entertainers" and a man cartoonist. The program was a huge success. The Auxiliary served refreshments from 5 to 9:30 p. m.

During the year, Secretary Porter brought before the Auxiliary various needs and they furnished oil cloth, scarfs and laundry bags for the dormitories, an electric fan and screen for the lunch room and paid $55.25 for new lighting fixtures, also gave $25 towards the hospital building fund, held four food sales, a rummage sale and package supper.

The purchase of the 10 acres of land for a camp at Glenorie, erection of the Charles Ramsey Lodge, dormitories and various improvements were Mr. Porter's ideas and at his solicitation the Auxiliary helped select the site for the fireplace, also had a shower of kitchen utensils for the camp. The Auxiliary also built one of the dormitories at the camp.

After the reading of this report, Mrs. Longfear, president of the Auxiliary, exhibited a photograph of Mr. Porter which she had enlarged and framed to hang in the lodge at the camp, with a brass plate containing his name and the years during which he served the Y. M. C. A. as general secretary.

In behalf of the Auxiliary, the vice president, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, presented Mrs. Porter with a handsome silk umbrella, and Mr. Porter with a tan leather traveling bag. She spoke feelingly of the services of both Mr. and Mrs. Porter and their pleasant relations with the Auxiliary.

Mr. Porter responded briefly, telling how he had appreciated the cooperation of the Auxiliary throughout his association with them. A delightful program was rendered, consisting of the violin concerto in A minor by Accoley, played by Miss Eva Clinton, accompanied by Mrs. Eunice Shannon, and three vocal solos by Robert Hawkesley, accompanied by Mrs. William Eltinge. They were "Nimón," by Tosti; "The Sweet Mystery of Life," from "Naughty Marietta," by Herbert, and "Tell Her I Love Her So," by DeFore.

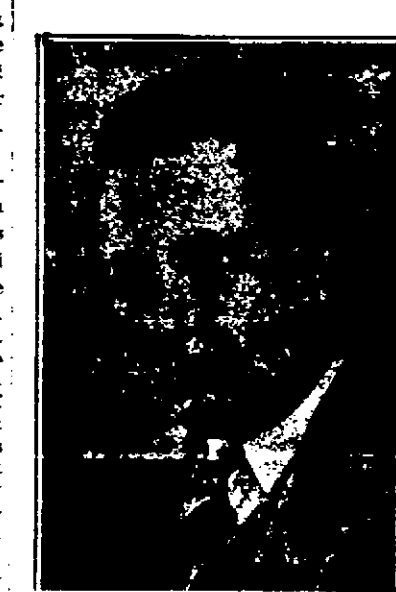

Ice cream and cake were served and a farewell reception given to Mr. and Mrs. Porter and Mr. Hall. Had it been known that Mr. and Mrs. N. Hinds were in town, they would have been included in the reception. Mrs. Hinds is corresponding secretary of the Auxiliary and has served as chairman of the house committee and very acceptably in various capacities ever since she came to Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Hinds and Mr. and Mrs. Hall have the best wishes of the Auxiliary wherever they may go.

Ambulance Call.

Mrs. Harriet Ackerman was removed from 648 Broadway to 147 Greenkill avenue on Friday in the city ambulance.

CONTROL NEARLY ALL IMPORTANT POWER SITES

New York, Sept. 14 (AP).—J. P. Morgan and Company and associates in the Niagara-Hudson Power Corporation today controlled nearly all the important waterpower sites in New York state as a result of the purchase of the Frontier Corporation from the Mellon interests, General Electric Company and the DuPonts.

The Niagara-Hudson group now has power sites on the St. Lawrence capable of developing 2,400,000 horsepower. Previous holdings of the Morgan interests represented 1,700,000 horsepower. The Frontier Corporation owns Riparian Rights and Islands adjoining the Long Sault Rapids on both the American and Canadian sides and also stock of the St. Lawrence River Power Company, Ltd., of Cornwall, Ont.

The original application of the Frontier Corporation for permission to develop the Long Sault power became one of the leading issues in the 1926 campaign when Governor Smith, who opposed the project, was a candidate for reelection against Ogden L. Mills, now Under Secretary of the Treasury. Later the application was withdrawn.

EDISON CONVALESCING FROM ATTACK OF PNEUMONIA

West Orange, N. J., Sept. 13 (AP).—From a convalescent's chair, Thomas A. Edison again today was directing his laboratory experiments to produce artificial rubber.

The 63-year-old inventor for the first time since stricken ill a month ago with pneumonia was permitted to sit up an entire day. Declaring that while physically a convalescent he would not be a mental one, he called for the report on progress of his rubber experiment, some details of which had been carried on by subordinates during his illness.

MRS. ASHBY TO GO WITH AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Mrs. Edwin Ashby, who for a number of years has been connected with the accounting department of the Canfield Supply Company, has tendered her resignation, and will accept a position as executive secretary and treasurer to the president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of New York.

Small Fire in Advance.

Firemen were summoned last night to Von Berg's Advance Restaurant on Wall street where an overheated stove had set fire to woodwork. The damage was slight but owing to the difficulty of getting at the blaze which was under the store the firemen were kept busy for some time.

Another step in the rapid but substantial growth of one of Kingston's progressive business concerns was made public today when incorporation papers were filed in the county clerk's office by William Davis Hawk, Incorporated, a corporation formed for the purpose of doing business as wholesale distributor of electrical, radio and automotive supplies and wholesale dealer in radios and everything pertaining to electrical equipment.

The new corporation will take over and operate the business established only a few years ago by Mr. Hawk, who began with an equipment limited to a desk and a typewriter gradually grew to the point where he leased a small warehouse and, two years ago, moved to the present quarters on Pine Grove avenue. The officers of William Davis Hawk, Incorporated, are William Davis Hawk, president; William S. Hawk (father of the president), vice president; Roland T. Fuller, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Hawk, Sr., expects to devote considerable time to the affairs of the new organization and as soon as possible spend practically all of his time in its interest, before long becoming a resident of Kingston.

The corporation capital stock consists of 2,000 shares of no par value, which will supply ample capital for the growth and enlargement of the business, which has already passed the one man stage and requires additional man-power as well as add capital to meet the situation caused by rapid growth.

Mr. Hawk's belief in the advantages of Kingston as a distributing center in which to conduct a wholesale business has been proved by experience to be amply justified and he is fully satisfied with results today, has well grounded hopes for tomorrow and a lively faith in the rewards which the future holds. He has been a persistent advertiser in The Freeman and attributes to this a share of the success he has met with.

Mr. Hawk will, of course, remain in general control of the conduct of the business, ably assisted by the corps of salesmen he has trained and organized. William F. Clarke will be in charge of the electrical department.

Fowler & Connolly were the attorneys who attended to the legal phases of the incorporation.

ROCK'S ROCKY HEAD SAVED THE PAY ROLL

New York, Sept. 14 (AP).—Thanks to Michael Rock's hard head, he and his fellow employees of a river front contractor will draw their pay today. Rock, 53, was walking along East 64th street this morning with $2,000 in his coat pocket, his firm's payroll. Two men stepped up behind him and one socked him over the head with a club.

Dazed, but not out, Rock called loudly for help. A policeman a short distance down the street heard his cry and came on the run. The two robbers took to their heels, leaving Rock's $2,000 in his pocket and only a slight lump on his head.

FRANCE TO MAKE OWN TALKIES SAYS MOVIE HEAD.

Paris, Sept. 14 (AP)—Before the year is out France will be making her own talking films, with French machinery and all-French actors, was the announcement made to the Associated Press by Charles Delac, president of the Association of Cinematograph Producers of France.

French film makers, who have so far been reluctant to invest the great amount of capital necessary for producing talking films, have waited long enough to be sure that the talking film has come to stay. American talkies which have been showing for many months in Paris to crowded houses, have been the deciding factor.

M. Delac sees in the talking film a slight hope that France will be able to make up film ground lost in the war. American and even German producers were at work during the great conflict, perfecting their instruments and the technique of cinematography. When peace came French film producers found themselves faced by an entrenched competition which has been strengthened steadily ever since.

M. Delac believes that the talking film will deal a heavy blow to the system of international casts in which the hero is American, the heroine German, the heavy man Italian or Russian, and so on. The new form of film means a purely national production, and each country's films will have an individuality which will be in great danger of being lost, in M. Delac's opinion, in the international productions to which the silent film was becoming daily more and more committed.

As the French have always been famous for fine actors and casts in the "legitimate drama," the talking film, M. Delac thinks, may provide France with an opportunity to regain the high rank she held in the early days of the cinematograph.

EX-SERGEANT'S SUICIDE BRINGS NO TEARS TO FOREIGN LEGION.

By T. T. TOPPING.

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Sidi-Bel-Abbes, Algeria, Sept. 14 (AP)—No tears were shed by the hard-boiled corporals and buck privates of the French Foreign Legion when they heard that Peter Klems, a former Legionnaire sergeant and one of the most audacious adventures ever to set foot in North Africa had committed suicide in a Berlin police station.

Klems had escaped from a French firing squad after being sentenced to death by a court martial for desertion and enlisting with Abd-el-Krim, to whom he became chief of staff. When informed that he had taken up burglary upon his return to Germany, his former comrades expressed no surprise.

"He was a natural born burglar," they agreed.

Six years ago Klems, fleeing before the German police, reached Marseille and enlisted in the Foreign Legion. He took part in several combats against Abd-el-Krim and behaved so well that he was promoted to a sergeant.

Klems' adventurous soul felt, however, that there was more opportunity for advancement with the rebel forces and he deserted to the Rifians. Abd-el-Krim appreciated the skill of Klems as a soldier and made him his chief adviser.

Klems taught the Rifians many modern war methods, especially with artillery. One morning in May, 1926, the second French division under General Marty operating along the Moulouya river, reached the foothills of the Rif range.

TARGET, Abd-el-Krim's military capital, twenty miles to the north and General Marty in his hurry to capture the rebel chief ordered the line of hills two miles away to be stormed. Four companies were instructed to reach the top of the hills and dig themselves in.

Just as the black domes of the Geneguelles appeared over the top of the range, 77 millimeter guns raked the ground with appallingly effective shots. It seemed as if the Rifians had had their two lone batteries trained upon this point. Twenty-three men were killed and sixty wounded before the four companies could be brought back. That evening at mess General Marty said:

"Every one of those shells was consigned to Klems. He must be captured when we get that Rifian army."

But Klems escaped when Abd-el-Krim's collapse came and it was a year later before a dark-haired girl employed by the French noticed him in Foreign Legion territory.

He was sentenced to be shot. Five days later he stole the uniform of a French interpreter and walked through the lines.

Fleeing to Germany, he took up his old trade of burglary, was caught, and was being questioned in a Berlin police station when he snatched his throat with a razor blade.

Monument to Serpent.

Vienna, Sept. 14 (AP)—A monument to a serpent who gave her life to save two children in her care is to be erected in the gardens of Sternberg Square under the auspices of the City Council of Vienna.

The girl, Margarete Nankhardt, was killed by an automobile from whose path she had pushed the children.

Farming in New York State

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 14 (P)—Proper feed, water and care of cows becomes more important daily, the New York State Dairyman's League warned its members recently.

"The cows in the New York milk shed have a big job ahead to supply the metropolitan market's needs this fall," the League's message stated. "It can be done early only if the cows now have plenty of good feed and proper care. This is every dairyman's job."

"Spring freshening cows need green crops, ensilage or hay with a good grain ration. The dry cows should have a good grain ration too so that they will give heavy production when they freshen."

Production of potatoes in New York state this year is expected to be approximately 4,000,000 bushels less than that of last year, according to the August crop estimates of the state department of agriculture and markets.

The department ascribed the reduction largely to the low production on Long Island, where a large percentage of the state's crop of early potatoes is produced. The report continued: "Upstate the vine growth appears to be far below normal but the vines appear fairly healthy. The size of the upstate production, however, depends to a large extent upon the weather from now until harvest time. Too dry weather will cut the crop short, as would a severe infestation of late blight."

The state production was estimated at 28,490,000 bushels, compared with 32,376,000 bushels last year and an average of 32,527,000 bushels for the past five years.

Crop forecasts for the 11 principal potato-producing states showed decreases in each case, with the exception of Maine, where a slight increase was expected.

Although the grape production in this state is expected to be less than that of last year, according to the latest estimates of the New York state department of agriculture and markets, it probably will be considerably greater than the average for the past five years.

The estimates of the department fixed the probable production of 76,000 tons, compared with 85,478 tons last year and a five-year average of 70,412 tons. A considerable decrease in the total production for the entire country was forecast, the reason being given as a reduction in the crop of wine, raisin and table grapes in California.

There are 20,000 boys and girls enrolled in the 4-H clubs of New York state, the junior organization of the farm bureaus.

FREE STATE TO ENLIST 50,000 ARMY RESERVES

Dublin (P)—The Irish Free State is getting ready a voluntary reserve army of 50,000 men. Recruiting will start soon.

The soldiers, when on active service, will wear green uniforms, and steel helmets patterned in the German style.

During the Civil War which followed the signing of the treaty with Great Britain creating the Irish Free State, the newly constituted government called for volunteers with the result that at one time the National Army reached a strength of 56,000 men and officers.

The roster now embraces 502 officers and 6,474 men but the Ministry of Defense is cutting it down to 500 officers and 5,000 men. More emphasis is to be placed on the organized reserves which will be based on the British system of territoriality. The reserve army will draw its officers from Irish colleges.

The German style of "the hat" was adopted after exhaustive tests with the American, British and French types. One of the helmets tested for the quality of steel in the Saorstad state laboratory was returned to the general staff in an envelope—a pile of fine gray dust. A note explained that this was the helmet after analysis. It has not been explained whether it was French, British or American. Presumably it was not German, as that type has been adopted.

Gas masks are an innovation of this year's army training. The new Free State army has lagged in gas warfare, but lectures on this subject have now been introduced at the officers' training centers.

Artillery training on the other hand has become very efficient and the heavy gun units of the new army are said to compare favorably with similar units anywhere in the world.

The new reserve army will find a secret, organized enemy awaiting it in that mysterious organization known as "The Ghosts." For nearly a year "The Ghosts" have been quiet. But the government never knows when they will move next.

Last year there was a re-creation of their activity. Everywhere from Dublin to Limerick their posters in large black letters appeared mysteriously in public places calling for a new campaign of arms against the authority of the Irish Free State. Placed in the dead of the night all the posters were signed "The Ghosts," a terrorist organization which is the bane of the government.

Several outrages against governmental authority have been perpetrated by them, but despite much ferreting, the government has never been able to learn much about the organization.

Sometimes it is called "The League of Death." The members claim to be descendants of the old "Invincibles," the secret Irish Society which was responsible for the campaign of murder that culminated in 1912 in the assassination of Lord Frederick Cavendish at Phoenix Park.

It is known, too, that the members of "The Ghosts" have proved good recruiting material for the extremists of the secret, illegal Irish Republican Army which still exists. None knows who their leaders are.

The rank and file is said to contain a number of young women.

LATEST ARTIFICE IN TRICK AUTO HORNS

The newest thing in trick auto horns was introduced to the Southern California Toy and Sporting Goods fair. It rides in a dog's favorite place, the running board, and when a button on the end of an extension cord is pressed, it emits a most satisfying "Woof." Franklin, noted scout and driver, is registering alarm when the ferocious barking berks at him from the fender.

KEEP TO RIGHT RULE IS BROKEN

Error Leads to Many Accidents, Say Traffic Patrol Officers.

"Keep to the right" is the first rule in all traffic laws, but according to Earl Brown, chief of the Minnesota state traffic patrol, this rule is broken by more people than any other and failure to observe this rule is responsible for a very large percentage of highway accidents.

Reports by the state traffic patrolmen show that violation of the "keep to the right" rule is very general, and they have spent a large portion of their time cautioning drivers and pulling attention to the danger in breaking this rule.

Drivers Hug Road Center. "The tendency of a large number of drivers is to hug the center of the road, but on state highways this is both dangerous and unnecessary," Mr. Brown says. "On the old type 18-foot pavements, if you drove with your left wheels two feet outside the center line, you still have two feet between your right wheels and the outer edge of the concrete. On the 20-foot pavements and the gravel roads you have still more room."

"Where there is no traffic approaching, it may seem harmless to drive in the middle of the road, but it is just as easy to keep to the right. It is a good habit to acquire. If your right wheels should get outside the pavement or the gravel, nothing serious will happen, but if you go over the center line and meet some one who is doing the same thing, an accident is inevitable. If drivers will keep to the right except when passing other cars, not pass cars unless the left side is free from oncoming cars for a safe distance ahead, and not pass cars on turns, at crossings, on the crest of a hill, or other places where the view is obstructed, half of our highway accidents could be avoided."

Pow Arrests Made.

Only a few arrests have been made by the state patrolmen since they went on the road. Driving without license plates, driving with licenses covered by luggage or bumpers, parking on pavements, failure to stop at arterial highways, and driving with loads which exceed the size limits fixed by law, are among violations frequently encountered, but so far no arrests have been made for any such offenses. Eight men make up the first squad of state patrolmen and the full quota of 30 allowed by law will not be reached until next spring. The men will alternate their time between highways in various parts of the state. All wear uniforms of dark gray whipcord and carry revolvers. Besides the regular traffic officers insignia they have the words "Minnesota Highway State Patrol" in large yellow letters on the right shoulder.

The law-abiding driver who commits a minor infraction of the traffic law need have no fear when he sees one of these men pull up beside him, according to Mr. Brown. They are on the road to help him travel safely, and not to make trouble for him. Arrests will be made only for serious deliberate violations of the traffic act.

Unusual Warning Signs

Now Displayed on Roads

From time to time one hears criticism of the effectiveness of the conventional warning signs. Drivers, it is objected, have become so accustomed to them that they no longer pay heed to the cautionary instructions they display.

These critics should be pleased with the original and novel note struck by experiments carried on by the traffic authorities of Detroit. They have endeavored to inject emphasis into their warning sign system, and have designed two unusual types.

The one is a skull and crossbones warning for safety zones. The skull and crossbones are illuminated in a flashing red light. Surrounding it is an amber caution light with two more amber lights beneath.

The other novelty is the rubber lady. It carries an amber reflector at the waistline and a red reflector above the head of the woman's skirt. Its revivification permits it to be knocked down and removed on upright position immediately.

County and City Women Organize

Rodie, who has charge of the Junior League weekly teas, which are given for the raising of funds to carry on the Junior League work, had offered to donate the amount of money which would accrue from one tea, in order to devote the building to this day nursery one day. Realizing that the availability of the Junior League headquarters would depend upon the place where the school would be held—that is, whether or not it would be in close proximity to the headquarters, it was found necessary to leave this phase of the endeavor open until the place of meetings should be decided upon. But it was emphasized that wherever at all possible, mothers should leave children in charge of someone near their homes, as it is a considerable problem to have the little folks taken care of by strangers to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. Inasmuch as the school is operated but three days, there is so much to be crowded in and the work is so intensive that it would be a positive punishment to any child to take it to such a meeting and no mother or father hampered by the presence of a child could give undivided attention to the instruction. These are the reasons for asking parents to find some way to have the children cared for during that short time. In any event every effort will be made, both on the part of the Junior League and the General Committee, to help parents to so arrange this matter that they may avail themselves of the school instruction.

While the arranging for this school was the ostensible reason for the calling of the meeting on Friday, Miss Nance availed herself of the gathering of the group to have presented three problems also of vital interest to the community.

County Health Unit Needed.

The first was that of the establishment of a County Health Unit. The speaker on this subject was Dr. Raymond Crispell, school physician of Kingston. Dr. Crispell began his remarks by quoting President Hoover as saying that the eradication of tuberculosis, etc. Such a project he counted as not at all visionary, since already 400 counties out of 2,000 counties in the United States are successfully operating such units and in our own state Cataraugus county and Suffolk county are doing so.

Another matter of especial interest to the young people of our communities was that of the 4-H Clubs, concerning which Albert Kurdt, manager of the Ulster County Farm Bureau spoke briefly. So valuable have these clubs been found to be that the federal government, the department of education of the state and the state each contribute $600 a year toward the salary of a full-time club agent, provided the county raise $2,500. This extra sum is raised in certain communities by the supervisors, in others by contributions from Granges, service clubs, individuals, etc. And all this money is raised for a better, more efficient, more up-to-date training of the head, heart, hands and health of our young people, these being the sanitation, better knowledge of the science of health, the application of modern health systems etc., the city began to be a healthier place to live in than the country. In the city a central water supply can be better observed and kept in scientifically pure condition; central sewerage disposal has sanitary advantages; boards of health require better housing conditions including more fresh air and sunshine for city dwellers; there is a control of communicable diseases and children especially have greater opportunities to be immunized; with the markets of the world available a more varied diet the year round can be had in the city, etc., etc.

After reciting these facts Dr. Crispell proceeded to offer a solution for the problem of gaining better health conditions in the country. He advocated a County Health Unit as far more effective than township health boards, which are too small to do the necessary health work in the best possible manner for the people and especially the children.

4-H Clubs are doing and noted the Junior League teas held at Ulster, where over 2000 club members are in attendance. At the State Fair 1,700 of the 4-H club boys and girls passed 100 and obtained excellent ratings.

See to Your Supervisors, Says Weaver.

J. Wells Weaver, deputy of the Pomona Grange, spoke of the need of county libraries which disseminate worthwhile reading throughout the county, can be secured through state aid. He warned against the habit in both our county and state of living too much and counting too much upon our past, while other counties and states are busy acting according to the best modern methods for improvement and leaving us behind. He applauded Dr. Crispell's health talk in the interest of a county health center, especially in view of the force that our present township health activities are. "In all matters pertaining to the development and betterment of county conditions of whatever sort, it would be well if you interested women would find out how your own particular supervisors stand and if you find him to be behind the times and unwilling to promote the best good of our people make a change when the next election of supervisors comes," said Mr. Weaver.

THE MOTOR QUIZ

(How Many Can You Answer?)

Q.—What per cent of gasoline consumed by an automobile actually drives the car?

Ans.—Ninety per cent. Engineers state that 25 per cent is lost through the exhaust, 25 per cent absorbed by cooling water and 15 per cent lost in heat radiation.

Q.—How does the present registration of cars in foreign countries compare with car registration in the United States?

Ans.—The registration in 1928 for foreign countries was 7,285,000, which compares with the 1929 United States registration of 24,493,124.

Q.—What state had the greatest percentage increase in registration for 1928?

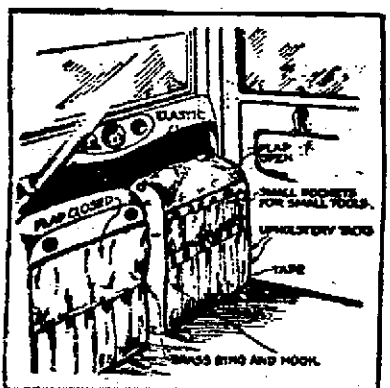

Ans.—Arizona, with a gain of 16 per cent.

Q.—How much automotive freight was carried by the rail lines in 1928?

Ans.—More than 3,500,000 carloads.

Convenient Pockets for Tools Under Rear Seats

The coach type of auto body usually has the front seats so they can tip forward to give access to the rear seats. Hinges support these seats at the front and feet are provided at the rear so that there is a space between the bottom of the seat and floor of the car. You can utilize this space for two handy tool pockets, as shown in the illustration. Each pocket should be fitted with a flap held tight either by rings and hooks or by snap fasteners. The arrangement of the tools and the number of pockets will be governed by the space available.—Popular Science Monthly.

Blame Habit Victims for Traffic Delays

Habit is a problem for traffic engineers to solve, says Maxwell Halser, traffic engineer in the Massachusetts department of public works.

People drive by habit instead of by judgment of distance, he asserts, and in consequence the better known routes are choked with traffic that should be moving on shorter and partly deserted byways.

In Boston, he explains, more than 20 per cent of the people in Tremont street could take a shorter route, but, either from custom or because they follow the traffic, they pour down into the most densely congested part of the city.

Better signs will tend to relieve such conditions, in Mr. Halser's opinion.

AUTOMOBILE FACTS

Remember the motor meter registers most accurately when the water level is high.

A steady, fairly high speed makes for better time than one that is alternately fast and slow.

About the first thing of all learned in the school of experience is that a red light is not a challenge.

Statistic: If all the automobiles in the world were placed end to end it would be 5:30 on Sunday afternoon.

A New Jersey motorist lost his license on the charge of operating a car while under the influence of grief. The task of handling a car in traffic these days is nothing to be sneezed at.

The Week in Wall Street

By STANLEY W. FRENCH.
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—The stock market experienced a rather dramatic downward readjustment of prices this week. Many of the leading issues were carried down 10 to 40 points below the year's high levels. As in all recent reactions, a number of issues moved against the general trend, with a sprinkling of public utilities, independent steels and specialties setting new high records.

While professional traders were inclined to regard the decline as nothing more than a correction of a top-heavy speculative position, other observers associate it with interpretations of Bears place upon trade and credit developments this week, notably the sharp falling off in un-filled orders of the United States Steel Corporation and the further increase in brokers' loans.

Speculative accounts generally have been so well margined that a 5 to 10 point drop in stocks has caused little panicky liquidation. But the sharp decline this week has caused considerable uneasiness as to whether any further drop might lead to a wide open break.

In some quarters it is believed that investment trust buying of the high-grade issues would act as a supporting influence, this being based on the theory that recently organized trusts have not yet completed their investment portfolios.

Call money dropped from 10 to 7 per cent this week in reflection of the heavy accumulation of funds here in connection with the mid-month settlements and federal income tax payments. Higher rates are looked for next week, with opinion rather general that the peak of fall commercial demands will be reached within the next fortnight.

One disturbing element in the credit situation is the unusually large volume of funds being loaned here for foreign accounts. It is generally conceded that any development which would lead to a sudden withdrawal of those funds would prove dangerous to the market, particularly if New York bankers found it inconvenient or undesirable to immediately replace them.

Rapid development of investment trusts, which have a combined capitalization of between two and three billion dollars, also has been a source of some uneasiness, as evident by the action of the New York Stock Exchange in exercising stricter supervision of those sponsored by its members.

Several more large trusts or holding companies are reported to be in the process of formation, public offering of a large railroad investment trust being scheduled for next week. The recent sharp increase in loans has been attributed, in part, to the public financing of these corporations.

United States Steel common was rather heavily liquidated on the tonnage statement although trade experts stated it was still too early to determine whether it marked a change in industrial trend.

HELD IN $1,000 EACH ON CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—Acting over the protests of the defendants, City Recorder E. M. Carrie today continued until Monday the cases of eight men arrested here on Thursday night and accused of conspiracy to overthrow the state government.

The defense charged that the conspiracy, which was granted at the request of the state, was "merely a subterfuge to keep the defendants from performing their constitutional right in attending the meeting in South Gastonia today."

Bond for the eight was fixed at $1,000 each. The prosecuting lawyers argued they had not had time to prepare their case.

The defense sought to have bond reduced to $500 each, Judge Carrie declining on the ground that there was a serious charge against them.

USED SUBMARINE CABLE TO TRANSPORT LIQUOR

Detroit, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Detroit News today says that a submarine cable has been used by rum runners to transport cargoes of liquor from Canada into the United States. The cable, it says, was discovered and dismantled by border patrol inspectors yesterday.

The cable stretched from Mud Island in the Detroit river to the American shore at Ecorse.

"Employing a method approaching in its ingenuity the much discussed mythical 'pipe line' into Canada," the newspaper says, "the runners operated a sled which carried from 15 to 20 cases of liquor a trip along a 500-foot cable, while crows crept along an apparently inactive waterfront and reported 'all quiet' in the rum war."

Both of the cable terminals, a boat house and garage on the mainland, and a partly submerged boat house on the island, were deserted when the inspectors came.

The cable, customs officials said, is believed to have been one of two in use on the river. An investigation is being made to discover the location and operators of the second, it was said.

CAN'T FIND A PLACE TO GO "BACK TO ADAM"

St. John, N. B., Sept. 14 (AP)—Refused permission to try his experiment of back-to-Adam in the New Brunswick wilds, Burt M. McConnell, New York writer, today sought a temporary Eden elsewhere.

McConnell proposed to enter the woods without clothing, weapons, implements or supplies to test his theory that a modern civilized man can sustain himself under primitive conditions. He hoped to emerge from the woods in late November as well equipped as the American Indian at the discovery of the continent.

His plan was frustrated by refusal of the minister of lands and mines to give him permission to make the experiment.

McConnell said he was undecided where he would seek another wilderness.

The explosion continued for about 45 minutes before the fire appeared under control. The cause has not been determined.

Why We Do What We Do

WHY WE FALL FOR FLATTERY

THE story of the fox and the crow is one of the best known of Aesop's fables. A crow, having stolen a bit of meat, the fox spoke to the crow thus: "How handsome you are! And I have heard that the beauty of your voice is equal to that of your form and feathers. Will you not sing for me, so that I may judge whether this is true?" The crow was so pleased that she opened her mouth to sing and dropped the meat, which the fox immediately ate.

From ancient times it was known how human beings fall for flattery. This trait has been the subject of much satire. Now and then we find a person who flatters himself into the belief that he is not subject to flattery. It is very doubtful if any normal human being is entirely immune to flattery. It is all in the way the dish is served.

Flattery coming from a superior or from one whose opinion or affections we cherish will be that much more effective for the simple reason that we like to believe the statement as true even when we know that it is false and mere flattery.

We like flattery for the same reason that we hate to be scolded or have our faults spread abroad. It is quite significant that we speak of a conceited person as having a swelled head or of "swelling with pride." Pride and flattery are expansive. They "blow up" the individual just as the opposite "takes the wind out of one's sails" and the ego collapses like a toy balloon with a hole in it.

We fall for flattery because of innate conceit, because we like to hear nice things about ourselves, because we are only too eager to believe good things concerning our own personality, because we are self-centered, and being social animals we like to get the praise of our fellows.

HUBBY'S GOOD POINTS

A PSYCHOLOGIST, speaking on that important matter of getting along with people, says that we should "bring out each other's centers of attraction and not harp on the areas of repulsion."

That's so true that it's worth reducing to plain language, and it means simply this: In everybody we know we find centers of attraction, and areas of repulsion—the things we like about them and the things we don't—usually the things we have in common with them and those in which we are not sympathetic; in other words, perhaps those matters on which they agree with us and those on which they do not!

Now, if there are sufficient "centers of attraction" to make us like them, then we want to get along with them—husbands included. And the way to get along with them is to bring out their "good points," so to speak.

What the psychologist means by bringing out centers of attraction and not harping on areas of repulsion is just this: If you marry a man who shares your taste for books, but has a positive aversion to music, make the most of your common interest, but don't drag him to highbrow concerts. If your husband is a perfect lamb except at the card table, where slight provocation drives him into a violent temper, it would be wise, unless you are an expert and could not possibly give him cause for irritation to avoid being his partner at bridge. If he is the kind of man who can't be a passenger in an automobile without seeing faults in every move the driver makes, particularly if that driver is his wife and the car is his own, a wise woman would do her driving when he is not in the car.

If anyone dares to remark that this advice is merely affirming the obvious, that all that I have mentioned is only common sense and the situations such that only a fool would take the course which is sure to make trouble for herself—then I call upon the thousands of women who constantly find themselves doing just that to stand up and defend me! They seem to be an evil jinx that leaves many wives indeliberately creating situations that will bring out the worst side of their husbands' natures, or anyway what the psychologist calls the "areas of repulsion," that emphasize the differences in their tastes or viewpoints or dispositions, so causing friction where there might be harmony and creating reefs and shallows for their marriage ship.

Dear Editor:

The worst part about touring, for a city-bred man, is the terrible coffee you encounter. There is as much difference in coffee as there is between a sport writer's slang and the editorial page.

There goes a sedan loaded with everything but the chandeliers. And a big car carrying the dog. Can't see any sense to that.

Bees are so smart. I wonder why they have so much trouble flying out of an automobile. They fly in easily enough.

Hard to go anywhere out here without encountering a country fair. Wonder how the home-baked loaves of bread and the quince jelly will be this year.

TEXAS DISTRICT ATTORNEY KILLED FROM AMBUSH

Borger, Texas, Sept. 14 (AP).—District Attorney John A. Holmes was shot and killed from ambush here last night.
Holmes had just put his motor car away. He was slain as he turned from the garage to go to the house. His wife and mother-in-law, who had accompanied him home, turned to time to see him fall with three pistol bullets in his body. The assailant had lain in wait in the rear yard of a vacant house about 50 feet from the garage. Neighbors saw a man run down an alley and footprints were traced to a point where automobile tires had left marks in the dirt.
Authorities, who organized a posse to search for the murderer, were unable to assign a motive for the slaying.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT AT HURLEY

Three people were injured in an automobile accident at Hurley at 3 o'clock this morning when a Packard sedan operated by J. H. Stiffel of Springfield, Pa., and a Hupmobile operated by Stanley Chambers of 402 Northeast avenue, Baltimore Md., came together. The Packard was owned by R. F. Kuster of 313 Main street, Springfield, Pa., connected with the People's Coal Company, who with his wife, was in the car. Mrs. Kuster received cuts and bruises. In the Hupmobile was Mr. Chambers, who was driving, and Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. R. Armstrong of Schenectady. Both women were injured.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 14 (AP).—Extensive week-end readjustment of speculative accounts imparted a decidedly irregular trend to price movements in today's stock market, although major activity appeared to be on the side of rising prices. Some of the selling which came into the market was based on fears of a credit stringency next week when the mid-month and Federal income tax payments become due.

Week-end mercantile reviews indicated that fall trade was off to a good start, and that there were no signs of a major recession in any of the leading industries, with the possible exception of building which is still hampered by the high cost of new financing. The fact that several large new investment trusts are in the process of formation was construed in some quarters as an indication that the major stock market decline is anticipated by bankers sponsoring the same.

Commercial Solvents led today's rally by soaring 16 points to a new high of 515, presumably in response to the overnight announcement of a 10 for 1 stock split-up. American Machine and Foundry ran up 12 1/2 points, Stone and Webster 8 1/2, Timken Roller Bearing 6 to a new high at 114 1/2, Seaboard Air Line preferred 5 to a new high at 35 and Underwood Elliott Fisher 5. American Water Works, Norfolk and Western, Louisville and Nashville, U. S. Rubber and American Power and Light all sold 3 to 4 1/2 points higher. Grigsby Grunow, responding to reports of record-breaking sales, climbed 3 points to 70, a new high for the present stock. Republic Steel, and International Hydro-Electric also reached new high ground. Revival of buying in Standard Oil of New Jersey carried that stock up 2 points.

May Department Stores fluctuated in an erratic manner. The stock opened nearly 3 points lower at 100, slid down to 92 1/2 and then rebounded to the opening price. Columbia Gas, Worthington Pump and American and Foreign Power, three of the leaders in yesterday's rally, each dropped about 5 points on profit-taking, and Pullman converted an early gain of 1 1/2 into a loss of more than 3 points.

The closing was irregular. Total sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

Succeeds Rabbi Rose at Temple Emanuel Here

Aaron H. Lefkowitz of the Jewish Institute of Religion, of which Dr. Stephen S. Wise is the president, has been elected Rabbi of Temple Emanuel to succeed Rabbi Morris Rose, according to a recent announcement of the Board of Trustees.

Rabbi Lefkowitz served as spiritual leader of the Tarrytown Hebrew Congregation during the past year, in the course of which time he re-awakened the Jewish Community to a more conscious realization of their status as Jews, through a clearer understanding of the fundamental concepts of Judaism and their place in the thought of civilization. This summer he was guest Rabbi of the Union Temple of Brooklyn, one of the outstanding temples in America, and delivered a series of sermons on nature themes which called forth high commendation and praise from the worshippers.

Coming to Kingston, Rabbi Lefkowitz will continue the fine work of his predecessor in promoting a true Jewish fellowship in this community. At the services held Friday night at the temple, Rabbi Lefkowitz spoke on "Moses Mendelssohn, Educator and Liberator." In view of the 200th anniversary of his birth, now being celebrated by all German Jewry. At impressive ceremonies last Sunday in Berlin in memory of this distinguished Jewish philosopher, the Mayor characterized him as "one of the forces which created Berlin society and the spirit of the German people." In Dessau, Mendelssohn's birthplace, gala performances of "Nathan the Wise" were staged. "It was this play of Ephraim Lessing, in which our immortal personality is portrayed as the prototype of Israel, that liberated the Jew from German Anti-Semitism, to set him forth once again as the apostle of justice and peace," said Rabbi Lefkowitz in the course of his sermon. The Rabbi continued: "Outwardly his appearance was repulsive, for he was a hunchback, puny in stature, weak and decrepit looking, but when we look into his sterling character, his remarkable genius, his genuine personality, his illuminating soul; when we think of him as the greatest intellect of his day—then his dwarfed appearance becomes giant-like and we see rising before us a second Moses, another great Redeemer. To read a biography of Mendelssohn is to read the history of the Jews of modern times. It is the record of their struggle and salvation; of their providential redemption from obscurity and ignominy and their attainment to recognition and self-consciousness. As the ideal representative of the Hebrew people, Mendelssohn preached a religion free from the trammels of dogmatism, seeking to establish the Kingdom of Heaven here on Earth for all peoples. Through his book, "Jerusalem," he expressed his idea of "liberty of conscience" which promulgated a movement for religious tolerance through all Europe. The state president Deist recently said that this ideal of tolerance is now reigning in the German state.

"Moses Mendelssohn has been called the Jewish Socrates and rightly so, for he was the Educator and Liberator of Germanism and Judaism." Next Friday evening at 7:30 Rabbi Lefkowitz will speak on "Louis Marshall." The public is invited.

100,000 AFFILIATIONS SENT FOR WORLD SERIES TICKETS

Chicago, Sept. 14 (AP).—Rhymes and jingles, pathetic pleas and personal notes accompanying applications for world series tickets are not a bit of help to the applicant—but they do help to brighten the labors of the Cub office force.
Fifty girls, divided into two shifts, today were far behind the 100,000 applications received during the first two days of sale of seats for the Philadelphia world title battle, and indications were that they never would catch up. More applications were arriving at the rate of five deliveries a day, along with hundreds of special delivery and registered letters.

Despite the feverish rush, there was time for showing around samples of what the fans believed would help them to obtain seats. One applicant sent in three sheets of cardboard, festooned with 86 rain checks, collected during the last three years, accompanied by a plea that such loyalty surely deserved series seats. He got them.

SEARCH OCEAN FOR GLOOF MISSING SINCE TUESDAY

Hancock, Me., Sept. 14 (AP).—A search that may extend from Bar Harbor eastward along the coast as far as Nova Scotia, was continued today by coast guardsmen and 150 fishing craft for William Reed, 19, of New Haven, Conn., missing in his small sloop since Tuesday, when he left Little Gull's Island for a 34-mile sail to Hancock Point.
Spurred by a reward of $1,000 offered by Reed's father, Professor Edward Bliss Reed, of Yale university, coastal residents aided in the hunt while watchers in lighthouses and life saving stations swept the sea with glasses.
While fishermen were of the opinion that Reed was blown out to sea or far down the coast by a heavy gale, hope was held that he would be found alive. His craft was said to have been buoyed by air chambers and it was learned that he had a supply of food and water. In addition the youth was reported to be an able sailor.

TURN DOWN MOTION FOR ORGANIZATION OF NEW PARTY

Seattle, Sept. 14 (AP).—A resolution interpreted by some delegates as a move toward organization of a labor party was voted down decisively yesterday at the convention of the International Typographical Union here.

The resolution urged members of the organization to "sever all affiliations with all political parties of the exploiting class which are constantly encroaching on the rights of the working people."
A resolution censuring William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, for participating in a radio program sponsored by the Crowell Publishing Company was adopted. Delegates declared the company had "locked out" the Typographical Union.
The delegates asked that a committee be appointed to consider the advisability of moving the International offices from Indianapolis to Washington, D. C., and called upon Governor C. C. Young of California to see that "justice is done" in the case of Thomas J. Mooney, who is serving a sentence in San Quentin prison as the result of his conviction on a charge of bombing a preparedness parade in San Francisco in 1916.

TOOK THEIR SECRET WITH THEM TO THE GALLOWS

Moundsville, W. Va., Sept. (AP).—Maintaining an outward calm and continuing silent as to which of them fired the shot that killed Frank Bowen, Millard F. Morrison, 24, and Walter W. Willmot, 21, both of Elizabeth, N. J., were hanged at the West Virginia State Prison last night for the slaying of the Lens Creek filling station operator.

The youths died as friends after having blamed each other for the killing since their arrest. The condemned men shook hands yesterday afternoon, extending their arms through the bars of their death cells. In the evening Willmot shared his last meal with Morrison after the latter had declined food and asked for three cigars.
Bowen was fatally shot on a rural road near Charleston last May after he had given Morrison and Millard a lift when their own machine broke down. They were arrested a few hours later in Charleston while driving Bowen's car and with Bowen's body in front seat. Violet Willmot, 14-year-old bride of the younger man, accompanied the pair from New Jersey.

Mussolini Gives Review of Work Done By Facists

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP).—On the heels of sweeping reorganization of the Fascist ministry, with the relinquishment by the Duce of all but one of his cabinet posts, Premier Benito Mussolini today reviewed the work done by the Fascist government in an address to the grand assembly of the party in the Venezia Palace.

The Duce, after recounting the government's achievements and its plans for land reclamation on a vast scale, dwelt at length on the relations between church and state before taking up the reorganization of the ministry.
He minimized the importance of certain differences of views between Rome and the Vatican, but emphasized the point that the change in name of the ministry of public instruction to the ministry of national education was intended to confirm in the most explicit manner the principle that the state alone has not only the right, but the duty to educate people instead of merely instructing them.

This was in conflict with the previously expressed opinion of Pope Pius.
The Duce said the new administration bears still more the Fascist imprint, which however, did not mean that the dictatorship did not permit criticism. What is forbidden, he emphasized, is attack on what are the fundamental principles of the Fascist revolution.

The Duce stated that on September 7, 1929, the strength of the Fascist party in Italy was 1,020,000 registered male members, 93,495 women, and thousands of Italian youths organized in groups of boys and girls.
"The Fascist regime gathers under its flag an enormous number of Italians who come for something. Italy has never witnessed before such profound moral unity."
The Duce said the famous motto of the "three words of 1789" was already beginning to weaken across the Alps. He meant liberty, equality and fraternity, watchwords of the French revolution. The three words as motto for the Fascist regime were becoming a reality, namely authority, order and justice.

Los Angeles, Sept. 14 (AP).—Officials of the Los Angeles Club of the Pacific Coast League announced that Augie Walsh, pitcher, who has won 21 games for the Angels this season, has been sold to the Chicago Cubs for $20,000. Walsh was purchased by the Angels last winter from the Philadelphia Nationals for $10,000.

DEATHS OUTNUMBER
BIRTHS IN BERLIN

Berlin, Sept. 14 (AP).—One baby is born for each eleven deaths that the clock ticks in Berlin, but nevertheless the deaths in the German capital exceeded the births by 6,000. It was revealed by the 1929 edition of the Berlin Statistical Year Book. The volume also showed that there had been a net increase of population of 75,285 since the 1927 census. But only 47,779 of these were born in the city, the balance representing newcomers from the provinces or foreign countries.

The feminine population exceeds the masculine by 226,000. This signifies that about every sixth man in the city might take unto himself a second wife, if polygamy were sanctioned. The predominance of women is emphasized in the borough of Wilmerdorf where the gentler sex constitutes 58.5 per cent of the population.

News of the Day In Wall Street

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Sept. 14.—Reports from the Youngstown steel district state that unfilled orders of independent companies are increasing due to the placing this month of fourth quarter business, and that the unfilled tonnage at the end of the current month will be considerably larger than at the close of August.

Predictions based on the present satisfactory sales volume in the market for electrical apparatus and equipment point to an even better turnover in the approaching fall season. Electrical World reports, commitments are well distributed, all sections of the country, with the exception of the Pacific coast, reporting business as quite up to expectations.

Twenty-two steamers will dock at west coast ports with cargoes of raw silk for delivery in October.

The advance in prices of department store stocks on the New York Exchange yesterday gave rise to reports today that a huge investment trust to hold department store securities was in the process of formation. In other quarters, however, this upturn was ascribed to revived pool interest, based on fall trade prospects.

The Mannerchor picnic, which was to be held tomorrow, has been postponed for a week, and will take place Sunday, September 22, at Dunne's Grove, Lucas avenue. In case of unfavorable weather, it will be held at Mannerchor Hall.

Warner Baxter

Handsome Warner Baxter of the "talkies" is one of the actors who has ridden in on the waves of this popular improvement on the movies. At one time he was an insurance agent, which some say made a "good talker of him." He has been given the star role in the Movietone "Such Men Are Dangerous." Baxter has had an interesting career on stage and screen. He prefers to do romantic character parts.

A THUNDERSTORM

THE ancient people had strange notions. They were very superstitious. Everything was invested with a spirit. They were afraid of the thunder because they believed it was the voice of their God. They were likewise afraid of the lightning because they thought it was an opening in the skies through which the golden glory of heaven shone. While we of today have outgrown many of these superstitions and fears some persons are still afraid of storms. Such fears might easily be removed if we correctly understood the workings of nature's laws. As the lightning is only the passing of electric current from one cloud to another, so thunder is caused by nature's refusal to tolerate a vacuum. As the air rushes in to fill the space caused by the passing of the bullet of a pistol, so the noise of thunder is only nature's efforts to fill the space made by the lightning flash. The best way to relieve a child of fear of storms is to take him out into the storm and let him see for himself that there is no cause for fear.

There is something majestic about the dashing, smashing and crashing of a summer's thunderstorm. After the storm has spent its strength there follows a calm, a silence, which no words can describe. The sun shines through the clouds, even a silver lining may be seen.

The storms which crash into human lives are much like the thunderstorms of summer. They come suddenly and seem to be disastrous, but are not altogether destructive. Something very valuable is accomplished by a storm. As the beauty of a picture depends upon a proper proportion of shadows, so the storms which come into our experience develop poise and self-control. He is a wise man who has learned how to remain calm and self-possessed in the midst of a storm. Self-mastery of personality is not a gift. It must be toiled for in daily contact with life's battles. Storms develop resisting power. We are better prepared to meet the storms which assail us tomorrow because we have not been mastered by the failures and disappointments of today.

After the storm is over go out of doors and listen. A silence speaks a language all its own, and seems to say: "The rainbow is not vain. That morning shall be glorious." (St. 1927, Western Newspaper Union.)

Tagging Major League Bases

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

The gaunt form of Cornelia McGillicuddy, familiar figure in baseball wars for forty years and more, stands again to lead a triumphant force into the promised land. After a vigil lasting through fifteen seasons, the end of the rainbow is in sight for the generalissimo of the Athletic army—the end of the rainbow and its bountiful pot of world series gold.

A victory over the White Sox by 2 to 1 at Shibe Park yesterday as the Yankees lay idle brought the House of Mack to within two games of certain victory. Another Athletic triumph over Chicago today and the loss of either game today by the Yankees would end it. A reverse for the Macks, however, probably would deprive them of the satisfaction of clinching their own tag, as the Yanks doubtless would do it for them in one of the games against Cleveland Sunday.

The Athletics stopped the White Sox yesterday only after young Ed Walsh had given them a bad run of seven innings. Two early runs, one of them scored on a homer by Boley, were nullified by Jimmy Dykes' fourth-inning fumble, which paved the way for two Chicago markers and a tied score.

Facing Walsh in the eighth with two Athletics on base, Al Simmons pounded the ball into the stands with his thirtieth home run, which sent the A's home ahead by 5 to 2. Walsh gave only six hits, but Simmons and Bishop got triples and Simmons and Boley home runs. Howard Ehmke got credit for the victory, but Bob Grove pitched the ninth inning after a pinch batsman had relieved the tall right hander in the eighth.

The Yankees darkened their stadium on a technical charge of rain, building up a double-header for today, and the Senators nosed out the Indians by 4 to 3. The Red Sox and the Tigers had an open date. The reverse in Washington left the ambitious Indians only one and one-half games ahead of the equally ambitious Browns in the scramble for third money.

The dishing of the National League pennant by the Cubs was postponed yesterday when the rejuvenated Phillies weathered a ninth-inning assault to win by 7 to 6, and the second-place duel of the Pirates and the Giants was halted by rain at Forbes Field. The game cannot be played off, but neither team profited nor lost, since both were involved in the cancellation.

After piling up seven runs against Sharif Blake before he departed with none out in the eighth, the Phillies entered the last of the ninth with a margin of 7 to 5 and Phil Collins performing heroically in a relief role. Then with one out, Rogers Hornsby hit his thirty-sixth homer, and Wilson and Cuyler singled. Out went Collins with 30,000 fans creating a bedlam and in came Willoughby.

The Philadelphia ace retired Stephen on a grounder, but both runners advanced, and Willoughby thought it best to pass Tolson to make a force at every base. The star of Burt Shotton's staff then caused Taylor to ground weakly to the infield, and Tolson was forced, ending the game. The ultimate triumph of the Cubs thus was postponed for a day, and the Phils remained within half a game of the fifth-place Robins who defeated Cincinnati by 4 to 2.

St. Louis assaulted the Braves for two victories by 3 and 2 and 5 to 3 to round out the National League program.

O'Doul Stellar National Batter

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—The gains made through the week ended Wednesday by Frank O'Doul left the Philadelphia outfielder with breathing space to spare over Babe Herman of Brooklyn in their hand-to-hand struggle for National League batting honors. O'Doul led by .596 to .596 in figures issued today and including games of last Wednesday. Last week the Philadelphia trailed by a fraction of a point.

Bill Terry, eight points behind the second of his two rivals, still was in the running, but must spur through the rest of the route if he is to finish one-two. His average is .378.

Other leading regulars: Hornsby, Chicago, .376; Stephenson, Chicago, .364; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .362; L. Waser, Pittsburgh, .359; Klein, Philadelphia, .351; Cuyler, Chicago, .349; and Douthett, St. Louis, .348.

In addition to topping the batters, O'Doul led in total hits with 209. Hornsby set the pace in runs scored with 138, and his teammate, Hack Wilson, was in the van with 141 runs batted in. Wilson was tied with Chuck Klein in home runs, each having thirty-eight. Frederick remained ahead with 48 doubles, and Lloyd Waser held honors in triples with 15. Cuyler set the base stealing pace with 36.

Guy Bush, the Chicago ace, led the pitchers with eighteen victories and four defeats for a mark of .818, followed by his teammate, Charlie Root, who won 16 and lost 5 for .742. Burtleigh Grimes dropped to third place after being shaded by the Giants last Wednesday. His record was seventeen and six for .739.

Philadelphia continued in the lead in team batting with a mark of .306, but had an edge of but one point over its two .300-class rivals, Pittsburgh and Chicago, tied for second place. The Giants were fourth with .296.

Chicago led in team fielding with .975, one point above the Giants and the Reds, tied for second place.

All-Stars and Pan-Ams Ready

The Pan-Ams and Kingston All-Stars are set for their tilt at the Saugerties road Sunday afternoon, when the teams open a series of games to settle a season-long argument regarding supremacy.

Baseball weather had no more than rolled into season when the Pan-Ams were on the necks of the All-Stars, challenging them to a series. The latter team paid no attention at first, remembering that they had taken the oilmen into camp last year. But the persistent Pan-Ams also remembered, recalling the battles as hard luck ones in which they lost by the skin of their teeth.

Last year's series, according to the recollections of the Pan-Ams, was a hard fought set of games. Several of them went overtime, the last one in particular. This diamond fracas covered a period of 13 innings before the All-Stars with the aid of Bud Culliton, former Pittsburgh Pirate and hurling ace of the old Colonial team, came out on top by a one-run margin.

That the All-Stars had to bring Culliton in to carry them over is an incident that the Pan-Ams invariably recall when they are reminded that the Stars trimmed them last year. Now they remark, "there will be no Pirates this year, so watch us trim those All-Stars."

Jimmy Volker will be depended upon to toss the Pan-Ams a brand of ball that will ring the All-Stars on top. He is in shape for the contest and has no fear that the oilmen will get too frisky with their clubs, although the majority of them have been batting at a good clip. Hank Cragan, Johnny Carpenter and Johnny Celuch will be ready to start on the mound for the Pan-Ams. Wait Black and Ken Best of the Pan-Ams and All-Stars respectively will not be in line of duty Sunday. It is expected, because they are slated to pitch in the Industrial League series this afternoon. Black huris for the Gasco and Best for the Hercules.

Sunday's game between the Pan-Ams and All-Stars is expected to draw one of the biggest crowds ever present at a game on the Saugerties road diamond. Many will attend to see the All-Stars in action on a home diamond for the first time this season, while others will be at the contest to see whether the Pan-Ams will make good their threat and handle their opponents in the same manner that they disposed of every other local club they met this year. The oilmen have "put the boots" to every Kingston nine they faced this season.

TILDEN AND HUNTER MEET TODAY FOR TENNIS TITLE

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 14 (AP)—The battle between Big Bill Tilden and Francis T. Hunter on the one hand and the concentrated power of the rising tennis generation on the other is all over now that these great old campaigners, 36 and 35 years old respectively, have forged into the finals of the National Singles Championship where they are to meet today for the title.

On the way to their final round rendezvous this pair of amazing athletes defeated some of the best of the country's younger players while others were unable to stand the pace of the six hard days of play.

The hardest battle that either was forced to wage was won by Tilden yesterday when he overcame a lead of two sets to one to master the young California giant, John Doe, in a furious five-set struggle decided by score of 4-6, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Big Bill was worn and weary midway through the final set but somehow in his system he had stored away strength for a half dozen strokes so fast that no man could hope to return them. With these he proceeded to break Doe's heart.

Hunter's victim yesterday was Fritz Mercier, whom he battered into submission by scores of 6-4, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3, in the other semi-final.

Hunter has never won the National crown, although his ranking in the nation for two years has been second only to Tilden. Big Bill today was trying for his seventh American championship.

SPECIAL BOUTS TONIGHT AT WOODCLIFF PARK

A special card of boxing bouts will be held tonight at Woodcliff Park Stadium, celebrating the New York State Gratto Convention being held at Poughkeepsie. It is expected that 4,000 Gratto members will be interested in the bouts so a high class program has been arranged. Prices have been reduced for the special attraction, which is as follows:

Joe Kelly, New York, vs. Whitey Lambach, Philadelphia, 10 rounds.
 Chico Gonzales, Lima, Peru, vs. Andy Bakowitz, East Side, 6 rounds.
 Pat Gillen, New York, vs. Bill McCann, New York, 6 rounds.
 Joe Baxter, Albany, vs. Freddie Raymond, Baltimore, 6 rounds.
 Joe Deppre, Fall River, vs. Pete Mike, Buffalo, 4 rounds.

TONY LERO TO FIGHT AT JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

Tony Lero, who has been a resident of the Edenville boxers' camp for two or three years, is now training at his brother Joe's gym at Tampa in preparation for a 10-round fight with Joe Cook, bulky southern featherweight, at Jacksonville, Fla., on Tuesday, September 17.

Lero, who has been going great guns here and in the east, contemplated a victory over Cook and then a shot at the southern featherweight champion. Tony is anxious to bring the featherweight belt back to Kingston. He will return here with Manuel Quintero, who also is conducting a strong campaign in the south. Both boys favor Edenville as a training quarters and like Kingston so well that they will come back north after their fight.

NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS—1929

GREATER INTEREST IN WORLD SERIES

Fans Show Eagerness for Ducats at Higher Prices.

(By CHAS. H. CROWELL.)

Interest in baseball is more intense this year than it has been for some time, as is evidenced by the fans' eagerness for ducats for the world series. Tickets are being sold at a good premium and those fans who have their seats reserved are in big luck. Scalpers are taking advantage of the situation to reap a harvest, and although both stands have been enlarged as much as possible, the devotees are going to find it difficult to get a seat.

Predictions were made early in the season that the people attending this year's world series would be small because so many sport lovers had gone over to golf, tennis, track, field and other games. However, late comers are going to experience the same trouble in obtaining seating accommodations that they have in previous years.

The usual arguments, pro and con, as to the relative merits of the various players are being indulged in and betting is about as usual, with opinion evenly divided. In some quarters of the East the Athletics rule as slight favorites, on account of their pitchers.

This is the second time the Cubs and Athletics have clashed, the two teams coming together first in 1910 when the Athletics won 4 games to 1. The Athletics won two other series, one in 1911 from the Giants and again in 1912, also from the Giants.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

Rogers Hornsby holds the National league home run record of 42 in one season.

Ty Cobb hasn't seen a big league ball game all year. That's retiring with a vengeance.

Richmond, Norfolk and Syracuse are the biggest cities in the country without baseball clubs.

Kid Gleason says the Athletics are the greatest team of all time—as far back as he has seen it.

New York baseball writers state that Bob Menzel is almost certain to leave the Yankees before next season.

Infielder Leonard Dondoro of the St. Louis Browns has been sent to the Twin team of the Western league on an option.

Grover Cleveland Alexander brought in thirty or more victories a season in three successive years for the Phillies, winning thirty-one games in 1915, thirty-three in 1916 and thirty in 1917.

Posterity's Failing. "While we honor the ancients who gave us so much good instruction," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "posterity goes on representing the spirit of disobedient children."—Washington Star.

WOODCLIFF PLEASURE PARK

WILL CLOSE SUNDAY NIGHT

Woodcliff Pleasure Park, ran by Fred H. Penty, will close Sunday night with a grand ball in the ballroom. Excursions from New York and other points along the river will land at Woodcliff wharf in the afternoon with many who expect to have a jolly time at the park closing.

Tuesday of next week will bring the boxing activities of the park to an end for this year. They did not turn out to be as successful as sportsmen expected. Thursday night the Elks of Poughkeepsie will use Woodcliff ballroom for their ball and other tournament.

What puzzles many of the onlookers is this: If a golf or tennis star of the first magnitude can sell bonds of real estate or insurance, what is his or her playing skill unquestionably a factor in success, without at the same time jeopardizing any amateur standing, why is the barrier so strict in the mere business of sporting goods?

The rules-makers of tennis have put limits on the activities of players, writers, after many a war of words with Big Bill Tilden, but golf stars whose names mean money to any newspaper or syndicate, can pose the typewriter with complete immunity from restrictions.

Fonseca Pressing Foxx For Lead

Chicago, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Athletics are just about in, but James E. Foxx, Connie Mack's first baseman, is not nearly as certain of winning the American league batting championship as he is of participating in the world series.

Figures released today, and including Wednesday's games, give the versatile Foxx an average of .356, just three points better than that of Lew Fonseca, the Cleveland Indians' veteran first sacker. Both lost during the week, Foxx dropping three points and Fonseca two.

Only three members of the leading ten showed gains, Dale Alexander of Detroit picking up nine points, George Herman Ruth gaining four and Bob Fothergill, another Tiger, three.

Behind Foxx and Fonseca were Simmons, Philadelphia, .346; Manush, St. Louis, .343; New York, .343; Fothergill, Detroit, .341; Alexander, Detroit, .339; Combs, New York, .349; Ruth New York, .341; Meliman, Detroit, .346.

The Tigers continued to hit at a .361 clip which was good enough to keep them in first place in team batting. New York and the Athletics dropped a point each and remained tied for second position at .358. The Human Emotion Based on Electric Current?

Is love simply the result of electrical attraction? Is the human body an electric battery and our life, energy, and vitality dependent on how strong a current we create?

A doctor has stirred up tremendous discussion by declaring that chemical activity in the cells of the human body produces electricity, that this electricity maintains the life process, and that lack of it finally causes death.

He believes the human current has a great influence over all our emotions, including love, and thinks this may explain why certain people are attracted to one another, or vice versa.

A famous electrical expert says: "We have never isolated this current, and the laws of electrophysiology are not well known, but we have many proofs that this current exists. The body produces electricity in a score of different ways. At every muscular contraction or irritation of a nervous center there are vibrations that liberate this mysterious power."

"The least movement of a muscle produces electricity. For every heartbeat there is a corresponding oscillation of the galvanometer needle."

Durability of Leather Shown by Recent Find

The durability of leather was proved by the discovery, in the course of excavating for the foundations of the new Bank of England, of soles of Roman shoes, one of which bore clearly the impress of the official Roman eagle.

The soles evidently were those of the sandals worn by women and children. Bronze rivets were used to hold together two or three thicknesses of leather and no doubt accounted in part for the life obtained from the footwear, which must have been much greater in weight than present-day shoes. The old leather was in about the same state of preservation as might be expected of a modern shoe that had been on a rubbish heap for a couple of months.

Although nowadays leather is produced with more speed and less mechanical crudity, the processes of preserving, toughening, and softening it are not materially different from those practiced by the Romans in England about 2,000 years ago.

She always brings cheer and helpfulness and a big basket of things from the old farm. She gets along beautifully with her sons and daughters-in-law. She knows how to please her grandchildren without spoiling them and ruining their digestion. She knows how and when to write a check and when to make beaten biscuits and fry a chicken. Peculiar State of Mind

"It may be a complex, a phobia, or a neurosis," said the street-car rider, "but there's just one thing on my mind when I take an open car. I usually sit on the back seat, or on an inside end seat. In either place I have a good view at the slot which projects the live wire in the street below. I've been tossing my cigarette butts at the slot, wondering if they'd ever go in. It's really become an obsession, since they never seem quite to make it. I'm meditating getting off and pushing one in some time, so I'll be able to get my mind on other matters while I ride."—New York Sun.

Nation's Fur-Bearers

Among the states producing the most fur-bearing animals it is probable that Louisiana ranks highest on account of its large muskrat catch. Martens appear most plentiful in Northwestern states. Minks are plentiful throughout the wooded areas of this country where trapping has not been carried on extensively. Blue foxes do not occur wild in the United States. Red foxes are common throughout the greater portion of this country, most of them being in the Northern wooded regions. Fishers are found almost exclusively in the Northern states where civilization has not disturbed their haunts.

PLANNING MORE FAMILY REUNION FOR NEXT YEAR

A meeting of the executive committee of the John More Association, also attended by some other interested members of the family, was held at "Kirkside", summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, Roxbury, N. Y., on Labor Day. This meeting was held to begin the preliminary work for the 1930 Reunion which will be held at Roxbury in the late summer next year. Another meeting of the committee will be held the coming winter or late spring, at which plans will be perfected and a program made up.

The John More Association is composed of the descendants of John More and Betty Taylor, his wife, who first settled in what is now known as Harpersfield, N. Y., in 1772. Their home there was burned by the Indians, but John More and family fled for safety to Catskill, where he enlisted in the Revolution; afterward they returned to Delaware county, being the first settlers of Moresville, now called Grand Gorge, in the town of Roxbury.

The first reunion was held at Roxbury in 1890 and reunions have been held every five years since.

The Association publishes a Journal every year giving the news of the family and copies are filed in many libraries. While several other families in America publish similar journals, the More Journal appears to be the only one which has been continued for nearly forty years.

A large number of the descendants of John More and Betty Taylor are expected to be present at the reunion in 1930.

TERMITES EAT INTERIOR OF OLD HAWAIIAN PALACE

Honolulu, Sept. 14 (P).—Island Palace, the home of the last monarch of Hawaii and the only building with a throne room under the American flag is being reconstructed. The structure has been used as the capitol of the territory but the termites have riddled the government department.

The interior will be entirely rebuilt but steel and concrete will replace wooden beams and flooring. The destructive insects drilled into the old wood until a finger could be poked through most of it.

The palace originally cost $359,000. It was first occupied by King Kalanikou who reigned until 1821. Then Queen Liliuokalani took possession for two years. Since 1893 the building has been the home successively of the provisional government, the republic of Hawaii and the territory.

Why Oakland is unrivaled in performance at its price

The following facts were obtained from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. All told, 678 individual comparisons were made. Of these Oakland proved to be distinctly superior in 451 or 51.37 per cent. The 20 cars compared were at least equal to Oakland on 342 or 43.50 per cent. And 13 of the 20 were higher-priced than Oakland!

PISTON DISPLACEMENT

Oakland's 228-cubic-inch piston displacement is greater than 12 of the 20 cars in its price field. Of the 8 remaining cars, 7 are higher priced than Oakland.

RUBBER ENGINE MOUNTING

Only Oakland in the entire field employs rubber "biscuit" insulators. While others claim rubber mountings, none offers such resistance and permanent freedom from vibration as Oakland.

HARMONIC BALANCER

Only Oakland and one other car in the field have the Harmonic Balancer. Of 13 cars using some other device, 11 are higher-priced than Oakland. Oakland's crankshaft is fully counterweighted. The crankshafts in nine higher-priced cars are not counterweighted.

CRANKCASE VENTILATION

While most cars in the field have crankcase ventilation, only Oakland and one other, according to available information, have any method for cleaning the air. Six have not, although three of the six are higher-priced than Oakland.

CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR

Only Oakland in the entire field has the Cross-Flow Radiator or anything similar to it. All other cars use the down-flow radiator, this despite the fact that 13 of the 20 are higher-priced than Oakland.

BRAKES

Only Oakland and one other car in its field use the fine type of brake which Oakland employs. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency braking.

Drive...
America's finest medium-priced automobile and learn what a difference there is

Nowhere is the impressive superiority of today's Oakland All-American Six more clearly revealed than in the remarkable performance which this greatest of all Oakland's delivers.

Oakland's engine has the large piston displacement necessary in developing high power at the moderate engine speed essential to long life—the non-detonating type of cylinder head required for high compression performance with ordinary gasoline—the Harmonic Balancer to neutralize torsional vibration in the crankshaft—rubber "biscuit" mountings to insulate it from the frame and make it incomparably smooth and free from vibration. Under the hood and throughout the chassis are many additional engineering advancements, all of which contribute to make today's Oakland America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Oakland All-American Six, $1195 to $1295. J. C. B. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Leather Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list price. Builders and rear fender guards extra. Good Motors Time Payment Plan available at dealerships.
